

Kentucky Association for Psychology in the Schools
Call for Presentations - 2017 Annual Conference
October 11-13, 2017

The Kentucky Association for Psychology in the Schools (KAPS) will hold its annual conference, aka “KAPSCon 2017,” at the Crowne Plaza Louisville Airport on October 11-13, 2017. We would like to invite interested educational and mental health professionals to present their innovative practices and research. Please consider this opportunity to share your knowledge and expertise with an ambitious group of graduate students, school-based practitioners, and university trainers.

Desired topics include, but are not limited to, the following:

ADHD interventions	Infinite Campus	Sleep disorders
Autism assessment	Legal issues in special ed.	Social-emotional learning
Autism interventions	LGBTQ issues	Specific Learning Disabilities
Behavioral supports for students	Linking assessment and intervention	Suicide prevention & intervention
Bullying	Medications	Supervision (practicum/intern)
Cognitive processing	Mental health	Suspensions
Counseling	Mindfulness	Technology (students, psychs)
Crisis intervention	Neuropsychology	Threat assessment
Disability assessments	New assessment tools	Tier 1 for school psychs
Dyslexia	Poverty issues	Trauma
Ethics	Private practice	Waiver programs
Executive functioning	Progress monitoring strategies	Writing integrated reports
Family engagement	RTI/MTSS in Kentucky

Conference sessions will be presented in 90-minute blocks. Proposed 30-minute mini-sessions will be grouped together to fill 90 minutes. These are an excellent opportunity for graduate students and professors to present research, case studies, etc., in lieu of creating a poster. The 2017 KAPS conference will not include poster presentations.

If you are interested in presenting a session at this year's conference, please submit your proposal information online at <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/Z2N682H>. Applications must be received no later than August 31, 2017. Acceptance will be confirmed by conference chair by the first week of September 2017.

Presenters are not required to register to attend the conference; however, primary presenters who choose to register will receive a discount on KAPSCon registration fees.

The attached pages provide a preview of the application to help you prepare your proposal.
